Managing challenging behaviour in Prader-willi syndrome

- “Listening up” - what a PWS behavioural challenge could be
- Preventing challenging family life

Although not all people with PWS will experience challenging behaviours, they are one of the most commonly discussed issues in PWS.

At this meeting we'll discuss what behavioural challenges look like, as well as strategies for managing anxiety, and the prevention or de-escalation of challenging behaviours.

The meeting is directed at parents and families, but anyone with an interest in PWS is welcome.
